Melissa Royal is a mother to three sons, two of whom will be sharing her home with her. She is a military veteran, having served seven years in the U.S. Army. Living near family is a priority for Melissa, and she says becoming a homeowner will allow her to do that. Before being accepted into the Habitat program, Melissa believed she might need to move out of state to find affordable housing.

Royal says the road to homeownership hasn't been easy; she spent an entire year searching for a home. With a weight lifted off her shoulders, Royal says she feels great about being a future homeowner. "It's like my dream has come true. The hugest part of this is I can have my family come over. I can now have family gatherings. I don't have to worry about moving."
